I miss San Francisco —

the world rising into the sky:

that finite planet

in harmony with

lengthening shadows

that defy the forces of nature, my San Francisco.

katherine song

my inevitable end

a paradigm changing within halcyon days and hard-coded laws in harmony with the epitome of man's egotistic love a human-crafted dream for a price.

we are one step closer

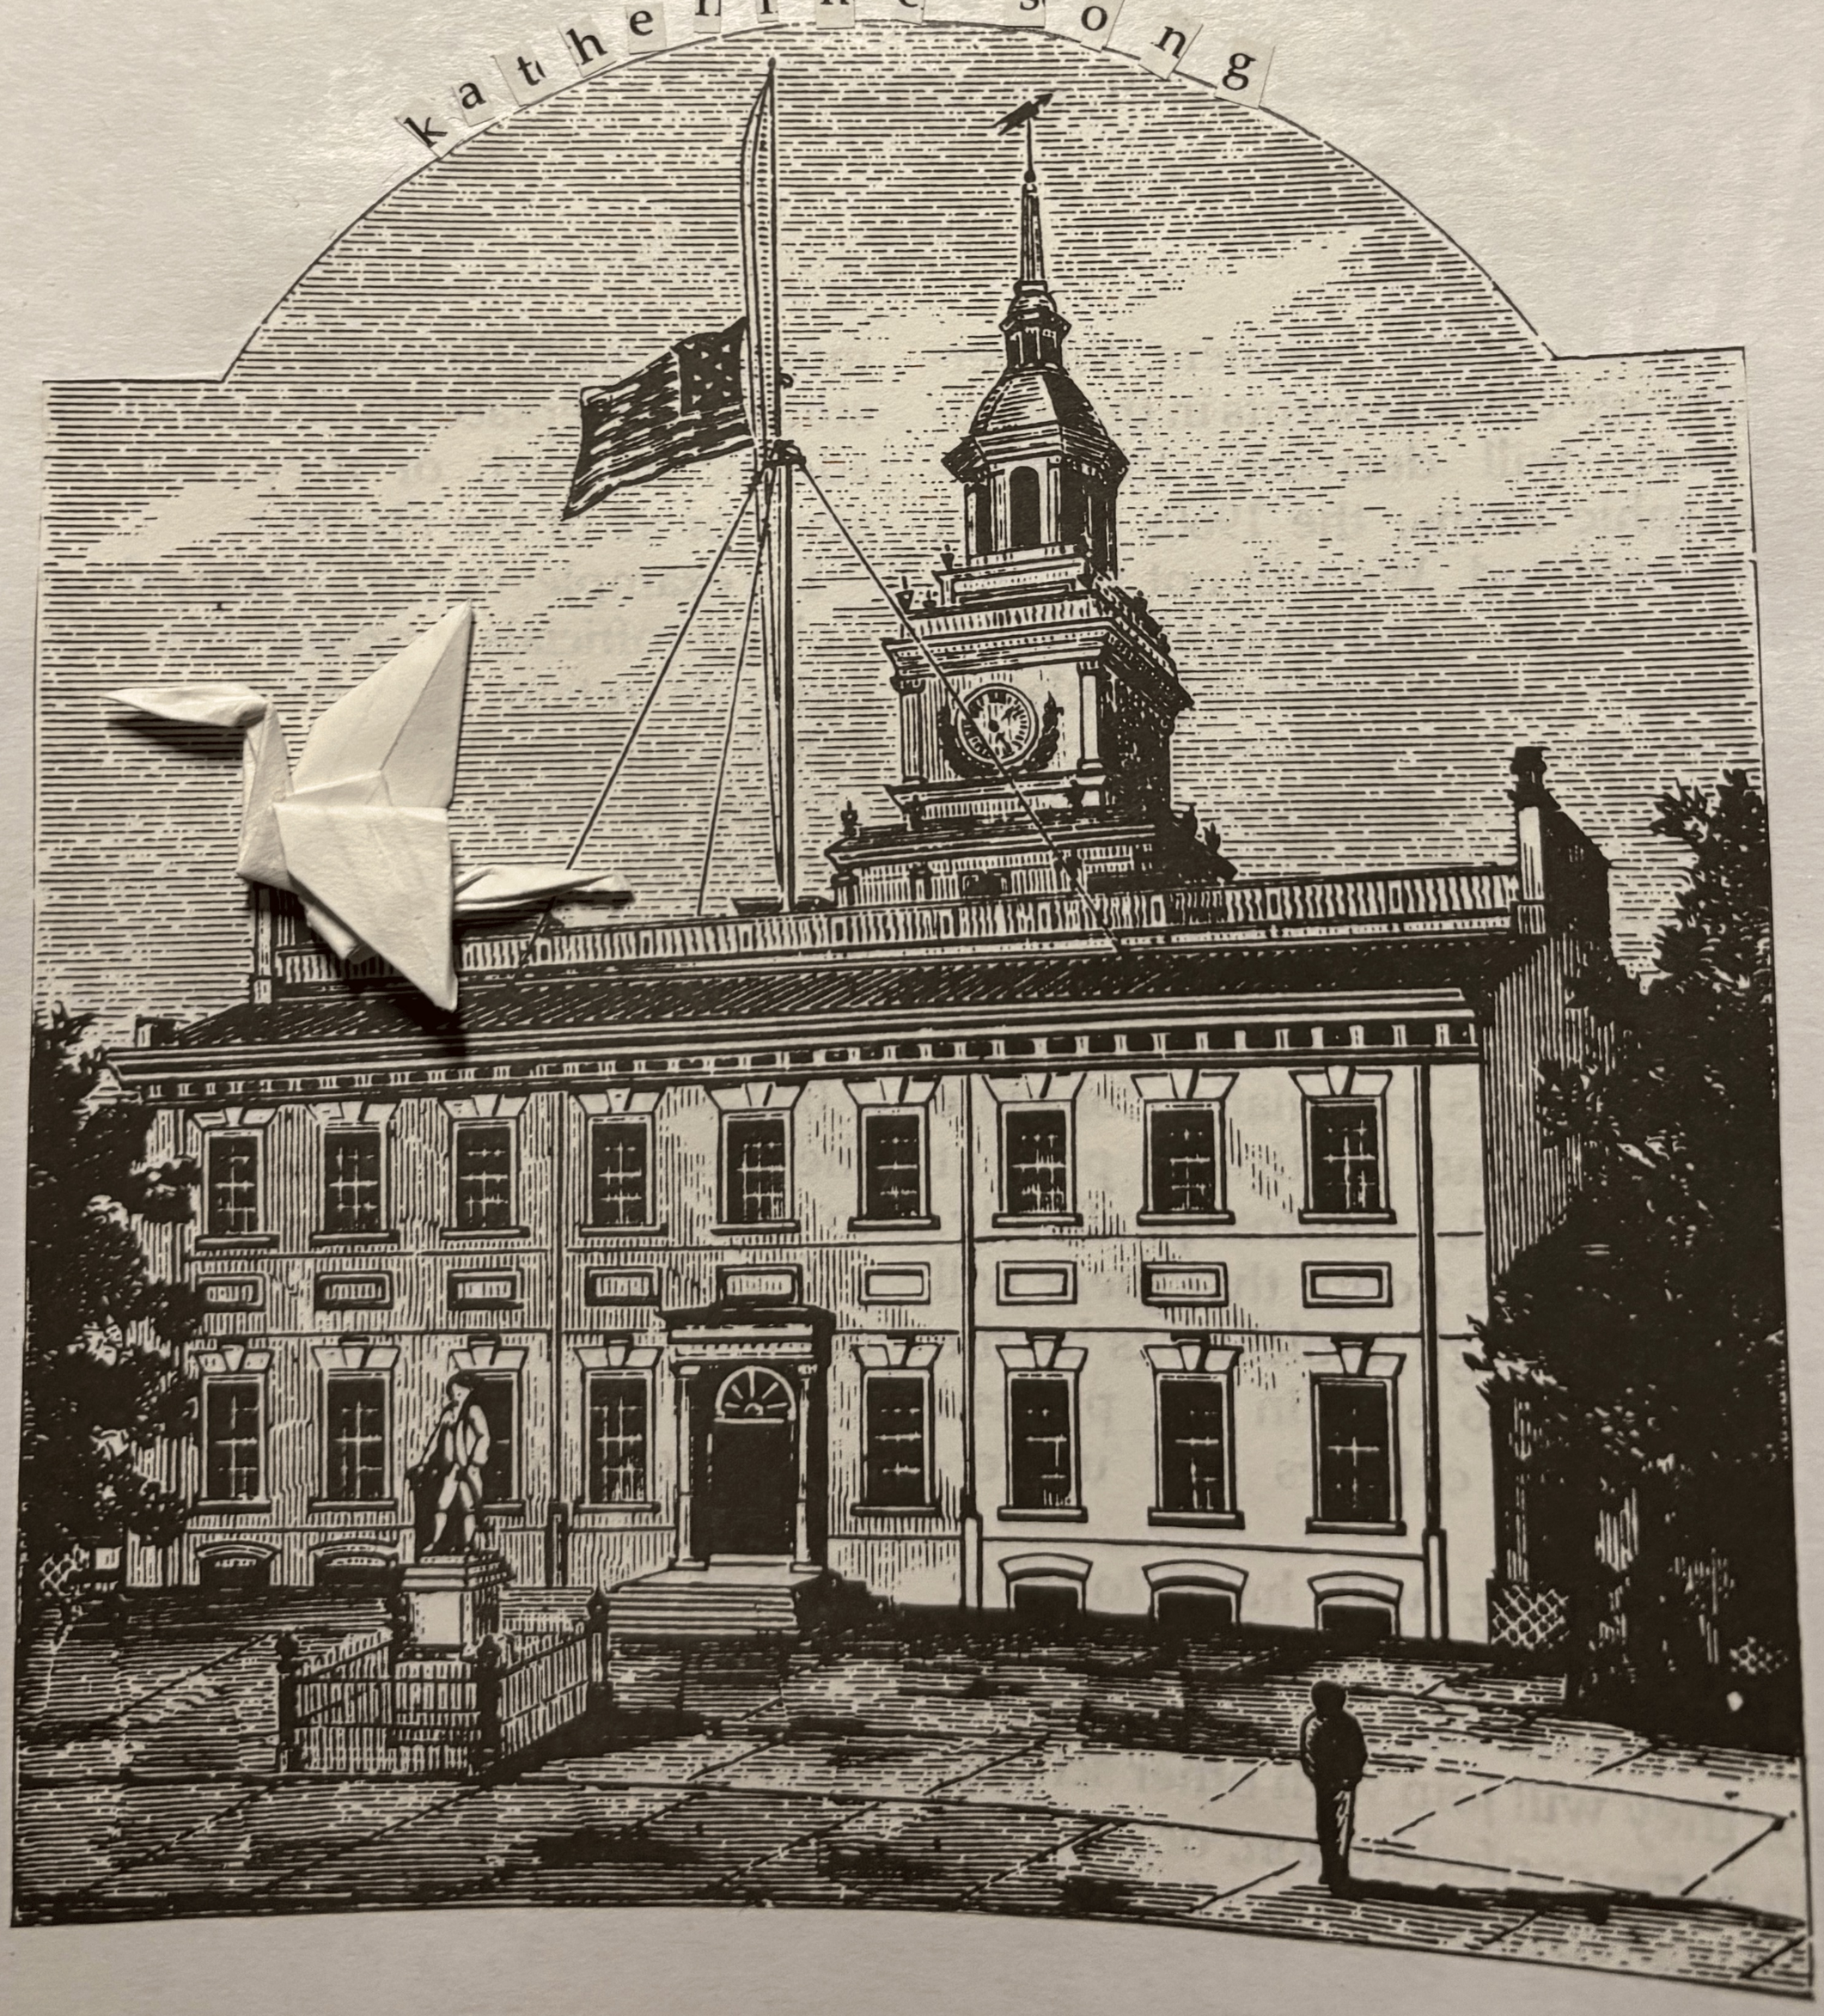
to

nonsensical decisions

that

march across the dramatic skylines

katherine song



I think that in a way the outside produces

THE DEATH OF The Dream
